Sor to President Taft.

It is undeniably true that none of the friends of the four Democratic candidates—Harmon, Wilson, Clark and Underwood—professes to be overly much pleased at the thought of being a "second choice" or eating at "second table," but the fact is also true that they want the nomination. They want it badly, and they will take it, either on a silver waiter or a tin one—just so it is presented. But the "second choice" talk is more important than this. It means that within the next few weeks there is likely to be a shiftsing of the political scenery. The man who is now first may be last, and the man who is last may be forced to the front and lead the van of enthusiastic Democrats when they meet at Hallimore to turn the Republicans out and put the Democrats in.

About the most pleased people at present conditions are the Harmon supporters. For reasons probably well mown to most people who keep up with present conditions are the Harmon supportores. For reasons probacy well known to most people who keep up with present day affairs, the Ohio Governor has been fought because of his supposed liking for and interest in Wall Street. Whether such a situation would militate against him should a vigorous campaign be made between this time and the meeting at Baltimore is one of the questions that no one carjans where he was a situation which and in the near future that will give the other candidates something to think about. Just what it is no one here is willing to tell, but the absolute satisfaction which surrounds the doings of the Harmon people is at least significant.

Along this line it is interesting to note that every time Colonel Roosevelt opens his mouth he adds votes to the Democratic cause. Firing his heavy artillery against President Taft and receiving a mild form of the same ammunition in return, the former President overlooks the fact that he is losing valuable time in not firing directly at the Democratic By deflecting his fire at Mr. Taft he admits sither that the position on the tariff is unassilable and the tariff should be the main issue in the present campaign, or that his range of vision is badiyout of alignment and his eyesight fault.

Gostly Washington takes many views of the situation, but one thing is certain: the Democrats can win if they get together. They never had a better chance than now; they may never have another one so good.

I would merely conclude this letter by urging upon Mr. Benjamin Duke, before giving his consent to the marriage of his daughter, to ascertain from perfectly independent parties the names of the principal clubs to which the aspirant for his daughter's hand belongs, in Madrid, in Paris, in London and in Rome. They would prove instructive. They might also give food for reflection to some of those leading clubs that have accorded to Don Ludovico hospitality while in this country.
